

University of Groningen

Multifaceted approaches to tumor microenvironment modulation and immune checkpoint targeting

Melo Gallegos, Vinicio Alejandro

DOI:

10.33612/diss.1215629783

IMPORTANT NOTE: You are advised to consult the publisher's version (publisher's PDF) if you wish to cite from it. Please check the document version below.

Document Version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Publication date:

2025

Link to publication in University of Groningen/UMCG research database

Citation for published version (APA):

Melo Gallegos, V. A. (2025). Multifaceted approaches to tumor microenvironment modulation and immune checkpoint targeting. [Thesis fully internal (DIV), University of Groningen]. University of Groningen. <https://doi.org/10.33612/diss.1215629783>

Copyright

Other than for strictly personal use, it is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

The publication may also be distributed here under the terms of Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act, indicated by the "Taverne" license. More information can be found on the University of Groningen website: <https://www.rug.nl/library/open-access/self-archiving-pure/taverne-amendment>.

Take-down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

Downloaded from the University of Groningen/UMCG research database (Pure): <http://www.rug.nl/research/portal>. For technical reasons the number of authors shown on this cover page is limited to 10 maximum.

CHAPTER 8

Acknowledgments

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

During this PhD, I have learned that love and gratitude are powerful forces guiding us toward growth and fulfillment. First and foremost, I am deeply thankful to God for lighting my path—from Ecuador to Japan, from Japan to the Netherlands, and later to Israel. These experiences have not only enriched my understanding of science but have also shaped my worldview and deepened my spirituality.

Academic Mentors & Collaborations

My deepest appreciation goes to my promotor, Prof. Edwin Bremer. Edwin, you welcomed me into the Netherlands, entrusted me with developing in vitro models to test CD27xEGFR and DSP502, and supported me through every challenge. Your mentorship has been pivotal in my growth, and I am forever grateful for the countless insights and support you provided.

I also wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. Marco de Bruyn. Your expertise was instrumental in propelling the CD27xEGFR project forward. Seeing you succeed in your lab inspires me, and I am grateful for the science I had the opportunity to pursue with you.

A special acknowledgment goes to Prof. Gerwin Huls, co-promotor and head of the Hematology department. I have always appreciated your friendly disposition and admired the remarkable work you have accomplished in the field. Thank you for your support and for believing in the potential of this research.

I also want to thank Prof. Kazunori Kataoka, Prof. Yuki Mochida, and Prof. Horacio Cabral. Thank you for welcoming me in Tokyo last year; it was a wonderful experience to share how far I had come. Mochida-san, you were there when I needed you most, and I will always be grateful for the opportunity to work with you after completing my Master's studies at the University of Tokyo.

KAHR Medical Family

To Ayelet Chajut, Yaron Pereg, and the entire KAHR Medical team—especially the lab team of Shirley Greenwald, Liat Tamir, Ami Tamir, Alexandra Aronin, Lior Tseveyer, Jasmine Avichner, Mufeed Abdeen, Shaked Almog, Roy Khan, Shira Amsili, and Lucy Ghantous—thank you for welcoming me and for your collaboration. I would also like to give special thanks to Rinat Tabakman, Iris Pecker, Tomer Cohen, Leora Frenkel, Yaffa Shwartz, Adam Foley, Leah Cutler, and Adina Porat, who were always ready to chat and generously shared their expertise. Working on DSP502 was one of the greatest highlights of my PhD journey. I truly believe in the immense potential of this molecule, and it was an honor to be involved firsthand in its development. I cannot thank you enough for making my life in Jerusalem and Modi'in unforgettable; My time in Israel was transformative, both academically and spiritually, and I will always cherish the connections I made with you.

i-Direct Consortium & Lab Colleagues

I am deeply indebted to the EU ITN i-Direct consortium for funding my PhD and bringing together an incredible network of researchers. To my seniors and fellow i-Direct colleagues—Valerie Wiersma, Jimena Alvarez, Levi Nelemans, Natasha Ustyanovska, Nienke Hesen, Ahmed Aido, Ghrizlane Choukrani, Lisa Jacob, Tengyu Zhang—thank you for the collaborations, stimulating conversations, and the fun times we shared. Each of you taught me something invaluable about science—and about myself. I admire your accomplishments during our time in i-Direct, seeing first-hand how we all evolved as scientists and human beings was a captivating experience. A special thanks goes to Vrouyr Bilemjian for being a nice friend and for the interesting conversations and fun times we had in and out the lab in Groningen.

Special thanks go to Levi Nelemans and Macarena González for collaborating with me on the CD27xEGFR and DSP502 papers. Even though you were busy with other projects, you made time to assist with experiments. The same goes for Martijn Vlaming and Nienke Visser, who had already embarked on their PhD journeys when I joined the Bremer team. Martijn, I'm grateful for your guidance on the very first CD27xEGFR experiment; and Nienke, you were always ready to help in the lab, making those early days much smoother and fun.

Dear Yuzhu Qi, thank you for your constant kindness in the lab and for serving as my paronymph; you were always there with a helping hand. I still carry the Chinese lucky charm you gave me—clearly it worked, because here I am, writing about you in the acknowledgements of my PhD thesis. The same gratitude goes to Diego Pereira, Isabel Weinhaeuser, and Yusheng Lin—thank you all for your warm support and for the fun memories we made in the lab. Each of you completed your PhDs with such dedication, and I look forward to seeing the remarkable achievements that undoubtedly lie ahead for you.

My gratitude also goes to Renee Bouwstra and Ewa Cendrowicz, who worked with me on the CD300a project, and to Glenn Marsman for always being ready to lend a hand—particularly with the Western Blot experiments, which I will never forget. Harm Jan, your guidance in my early PhD days was instrumental in guiding me in the right direction.

I would also like to thank Prof. J.J. Schuringa, Prof. Tom van Meerten, Bart Jan Wieringa, and Vicent van den Boom for the invaluable feedback you offered during my time at the UMCG. I have always admired your intelligence and the impressive way you fostered growth within the lab.

Support Beyond Academia

I want to express my deepest appreciation to John Martin, whose friendship has been a steady influence throughout this journey. Meeting you in Tokyo in 2015 was an alignment of the universe, and your faith in me—particularly for giving me the opportunity to consult for Materia Therapeutics after my contract ended—has been life-changing. I admire all your achievements in and out of the lab and I know more amazing accomplishments are ahead. Our conversations, including those in Las Vegas, constantly remind me of how perfectly everything can fall into place with a bit of faith and persistence. A special thanks also goes to your mother, Rosemary Martin, who opened the door of her home to me in San Francisco. She is kind and generous, and it was wonderful to see how much of her character you embody.

To Patrick Lim and Juliane Viegas, thank you for your friendship and advice, and to everyone at the SDA Church in Jerusalem, thank you for the warmth and guidance you provided. Sharing faith and fellowship with you was an incredible blessing during my time in Israel. Also, James Lim, thank you for the insightful talks we had about energy and spirituality.

Khai Tejano, thank you for being there to listen when I most needed a friend. You are very kind, and I appreciate you opening the doors of your home in the Philippines. Attending your wedding in Matalom was the highlight of 2024, and I am so glad I went.

In moments of personal hardship—when everything felt uncertain—Case de Haan and Cornelly Blanker helped me find a place to live in Groningen. I cannot thank you enough for your kindness and generosity during that key period. Your advice and guidance in the Bible also shaped me in transformative ways. Granny, thank you especially for being there, you are like a mother to me; I will always cherish your love and spiritual guidance. Special thanks goes to your son, Jechiël Egers, for welcoming me in your house and putting me in touch with you—his help was invaluable. Likewise, thank you Carlo Egers for offering your home in the Hague.

To the SDA Church communities in Leiden, the Hague and Groningen, I am profoundly thankful for the support you offered during challenging times. In particular, I extend my deepest gratitude to Christel and Han for welcoming me into their home when we first met at the church in Leiden. Your hospitality and kindness allowed me to learn so much about God and deepen my faith.

En Groninga, quiero agradecer a Simone, la primera persona que conocí allí. Siempre he admirado tu fe y tu amplio conocimiento de la Biblia, y te agradezco todo lo que compartiste conmigo. Mi gratitud también se extiende a Dariela, Daniela y Patricio por su amistad y aliento. Su calidez y generosidad en conjunto han dejado una huella duradera en mi camino espiritual.

Thank you, Luu Việt Thy (Ruby). You played a crucial part in helping me go through all this journey. I am thankful for the warmth, encouragement, and companionship we shared—especially during the challenges we faced in Groningen and our moves to Jerusalem and Copenhagen. Your presence during these times gave me a strength I will always carry with me.

Family & Personal Growth

A mi madre, Fárida, y a mi padre, Vinicio, su apoyo inquebrantable y amor incondicional han guiado cada paso de mi vida. Papi, tu énfasis en la educación vive en este doctorado, y dedico este logro a tu firme creencia en el aprendizaje. Mami, gracias por estar siempre a mi lado, por darme la vida y por los muchos momentos maravillosos que hemos compartido en Ecuador, Estados Unidos, Israel, Japón, y ahora en Holanda. Dios es infinito amor y los amo profundamente; son los regalos más preciados que Dios me ha dado.

A mis hermanas, Indira y Cristina, aunque hemos vivido separados por tanto tiempo, nuestro vínculo permanece fuerte. Quiero agradecerles su aliento desde que eramos niños; compartimos tantos recuerdos y las mismas raíces, y saber que ustedes creen en mí siempre me ha dado la fuerza para seguir adelante.

Gratitude for New Beginnings

After completing my PhD, I found a new academic home in the lab of Prof. Yvette van Kooyk and Prof. Elga de Vries. I could not have asked for a better place to work. As part of your team, I love the dedication to research of each of you and the thoughtful way you lead the team. Thank you for welcoming me into your lab and trusting in my potential to contribute to your groundbreaking work.

Final Thoughts

Pursuing a PhD is as much an inner journey as it is an academic one. Along the way, I learned that everything I need—courage, determination, and faith—already exists within me. External circumstances may shift, but the power to persevere and find fulfillment remains an internal choice.

Thank you to each and every person who played a part in this chapter of my life. I carry your guidance, encouragement, and friendship with me, knowing that this achievement is not mine alone. It stands as a testament to our collective support, wisdom, and love.

Thank you, all of you, for walking with me every step of the way because through you I was able to walk with God.