Curriculum vitae

Curriculum Vitae

Namkje Koudenburg (1986, Goaiïngea) grew up in a small village in Fryslân, The Netherlands. After finishing her secondary education at Bogerman College in Sneek in 2004, she moved to Groningen where she started her bachelor studies in Psychology. The last semester of her studies, she studied in Montpellier, France, at the Université Paul-Valéry. In 2007, Namkje was invited to the Research Master's program "Human Behaviour in Social Context" at the University of Groningen, where she wrote her Master's thesis on meta-stereotyping, together with Prof. dr. Ernestine H. Gordijn. After obtaining her Master's degree (cum laude) in 2009, she went to Addis Abeba in Ethiopia, to study the effects of laptop-projects on the social and cognitive development of children, in a project organized by Dr. Nina Hansen. During her time in Ethiopia she wrote her research proposal to apply for a PhD-position at the University of Groningen, together with Prof. dr. Tom Postmes and Prof. dr. Ernestine H. Gordijn – who became her thesis advisors. In the last stage of her PhD-research, she visited the University of Queensland (Brisbane, Australia) for three months to work with Prof. dr. S. Alexander Haslam and Prof. dr. Jolanda Jetten on the interplay between personal and social identities. In September 2013, Namkje started a position as postdoctoral researcher and lecturer at the University of Groningen.
