CURRICULUM VITAE

Claudia Debora van Borkulo was born on March 16, 1971 in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. She graduated in 1989 from high school (VWO) at the Waterlant College in Amsterdam. Subsequently, she studied Chemistry at the VU University Amsterdam, with a specialization in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (with merit). After several years of working, she made a career switch and started studying Psychology in 2007 at the University of Amsterdam with a specialization in Psychological Methods. After completing the study (2012, cum laude), she started her PhD research which is part of a broader collaboration between the University Medical Center Groningen (Department of Psychiatry), the GGZ Friesland, and the Psychological Methods department of the University of Amsterdam under the supervision of Robert Schoevers and Denny Borsboom, and Lynn Boschloo and Lourens Waldorp as co-supervisors. During her PhD, she visited Prof. Richard McNally at Harvard Medical School in Boston and started several collaborations. Currently, Claudia works as a post-doctoral researcher at the Psychosystems group led by Denny Borsboom.
