Alhamdulillahirabbil'alamin, all praises for Allah

I have learned a lot in the past four years of my PhD study and it would not have been possible without the tremendous help and support that I received from many people. It is thus my great pleasure to express my appreciation for everyone who has contributed directly and indirectly to complete this thesis.

First of all, I would like to thank my promotor Prof. Katja Loos. Katja, thank you for giving me the opportunity me to do PhD in your group. Your friendly nature has always been very welcoming and I do not think I know many people who is as patient as you are. After my short research project for the ITB-Zernike Master Sandwich program, I was eager/delighted to join your group and continue the work on enzymatic polymerization. Thank you for the effort and support you provided during the proposal preparation, which made it possible for me to obtain a scholarship from LPDP to undertake my PhD. I also want to thank you for entrusting me with the freedom to develop my own ideas and use my creativity in this research project. I appreciate all the valuable experiences that I gained in your research group and I am sincerely grateful for your kindness and help throughout my study. Thank you so much for your understanding to give me an extended leave of absence when I needed it, my family and I greatly appreciate it. Vielen Dank.

I sincerely thank my co-promotor Prof. Cynthia L. Radiman. Ibu Cynthia, I have learned so many great things from you and I always respect you. Thank you for all help and guidance throughout my bachelor, master and now PhD program. Thank you very much for your word of inspiration and encouragement to pursue higher education and for me to be a better person. Terima kasih banyak Bu saya sudah diantar sampai dapat gelar doktor. Semoga Tuhan YME senantiasa membalas kebaikan Ibu.
